

LET'S GET CHILDREN OUT OF ADULT COURTS, JAILS, AND PRISONS

Our children are worth far more than the worst decision they have ever made. We cannot simply abandon them to the adult justice system. The practice of prosecuting youth in adult courts and incarcerating them in adult facilities is:

OVER-USED

- Every year, at least 76,000 youth are prosecuted in the adult criminal justice system solely because of their age and not the severity of their offense.
- In fifteen states and the District of Columbia, there is no minimum age for judicial transfer of certain offenses.¹
- On any given night in 2016, approximately 4,656 youth were in adult jails and prisons.²

DISCRIMINATORY

- Although Black youth made up 14% of the overall youth population in 2016, they accounted for 35.5% of cases in juvenile court.³
- In 2016, Black youth were 51.9% of those youth transferred to adult court by a juvenile court judges in the U.S..⁴
- In California, the state with the highest Latino population⁵, Latino youth were direct filed at 3.3 times the rate of white youth. This number increased from 2.4 times more likely a decade ago.⁶
- Tribal youth are 1.84 times more likely than white youth to receive an adult prison sentence.⁷

HARMFUL

- To comply with the Prison Rape Elimination Act's Youthful Inmate Standard requirement to keep youth under age 18 sight and sound separated from adults, adult jail and prison administrators may place youth in solitary confinement where they are in their cells for 22-23 hours a day.
- Youth housed in adult jails are roughly five times more likely to commit suicide than youth in juvenile detention facilities.⁸

CONTRADICTED BY SCIENCE

- Research into adolescent brain development shows that youth are more likely than adults to be permanently traumatized by the harsh realities of the adult system.
- Youth are also more likely to respond positively to rehabilitation available in the juvenile system.⁹

NOT POPULAR

- In a 2014 poll, 65% of voters agreed that juvenile offenders should be treated differently from adult offenders.¹⁰

A FAILED POLICY

- Research tells us that youth who are prosecuted in the adult system are 34% more likely to recidivate and with more violent offenses than those handled by the juvenile system.¹¹
- Youth sentenced as adults carry their criminal record their whole life, diminishing their chances to find jobs, access decent housing, obtain student loans, and go to college, join the military, or even vote.

CHANGING

- Since 2007, 37 states and Washington, DC, have enacted approximately 90 pieces of legislation to remove youth from adult jails and prisons, limit the prosecution of youth in adult court, or revise sentencing laws.
- Comprehensive and age-appropriate approaches receive wide support across the political spectrum, including from conservative groups like the American Legislative Exchange Council, R Street Institute, and the James Madison Institute.
