Updated November 2014

Motivate. Advocate. Activate.

Dear Advocates,

On behalf of the Campaign for Youth Justice (CFYJ), a national organization dedicated to ending the practice of trying, sentencing and incarcerating children under the age of 18 in the adult criminal justice system, we would like to share with you this resource booklet. The Family Resource Booklet is intended to help families that are looking for information, resources, and assistance. This guide provides information, under the following categories: Civil Rights, Detention and Correction, Employment, Family, Housing, Legal, Mental Health, Policy and Advocacy, Prisoner Rights, and the School-to-Prison Pipeline. Although this booklet is not meant to be an exhaustive list, we intend it to be a starting point for families seeking assistance. For further assistance or to get connected with an organization in your state, please contact the Campaign for Youth Justice, at 202-558-3580 or jointhemovement@cfyj.org. To learn more about CFYJ, please visit: www.campaignforyouthjustice.org

Sincerely,

The Campaign for Youth Justice

Civil Rights

American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU), National Prison Project

The ACLU works daily in courts, legislatures and communities to defend and preserve the individual rights and liberties that the Constitution and laws of the United States guarantee everyone in this country.

The ACLU National Prison Project is dedicated to ensuring that our nation's prisons, jails, and other places of detention comply with the Constitution, domestic law, and international human rights principles, and to ending the policies that have given the United States the highest incarceration rate in the world. We promote a fair and effective criminal justice system in which incarceration is used only as a last resort, and its purpose is to prepare prisoners for release and a productive, law-abiding life at the earliest possible time.

The ACLU has an affiliate in every state. The affiliates handle requests for legal assistance, lobby the state legislatures, and host public forums throughout the year. For a full list of state affiliates, visit www.aclu.org/affiliates.

National Council of La Raza (NCLR)

The National Council of La Raza (NCLR)—the largest national Latino civil rights and advocacy organization in the United States—works to improve opportunities for Latino Americans. Through its network of nearly 300 affiliated community-based organizations, NCLR reaches millions of Latinos each year in 41 states, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. To achieve its mission, NCLR conducts applied research, policy analysis, and advocacy, providing a Latino perspective in five key areas: assets/investments, civil rights/immigration, education, employment and economic status, and health. In addition, it provides capacity-building assistance to its Affiliates who work at the state and local level to advance opportunities for individuals and families.

Employment

Legal Action Center (LAC) & National H.I.R.E. Network

The Legal Action Center is a law and policy organization whose mission is to fight discrimination against people with histories of addiction, HIV/AIDS, or criminal records, and to advocate for sound public policies in these areas. For three decades, LAC has worked to combat the stigma and prejudice that keep these individuals out of the mainstream of society. The Legal Action Center is committed to helping people reclaim their lives, maintain their dignity, and participate fully in society as productive, responsible citizens.

Established by the Legal Action Center in 2001, the National H.I.R.E. Network works to increase the number and quality of job opportunities available to people with criminal records by changing public policies, employment practices, and public opinion. H.I.R.E. accomplishes these goals by providing leadership on public policy advocacy, providing technical assistance and training on overcoming labor market barriers based on a criminal record, and promoting collaboration between individuals directly affected by the criminal justice system, advocates, practitioners, researchers, and policymakers working to improve the employability of people with criminal records. For more specific information about the National H.I.R.E. Network, visit www.hirenetwork.org.

Family Organizations

Justice for Families (J4F)

Justice for Families ("J4F") is a national alliance of local organizations working to transform families from victims of the prison epidemic to leaders of the movement for fairness and opportunity for all youth. They are founded and run by parents and families who have experienced "the system" directly with their own children, and are taking the lead to change it. J4F is building a national bipartisan movement for justice reinvestment--the reallocation of government resources away from mass incarceration and toward investment in families and communities. Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC)

The Southern Poverty Law Center (SPLC) was founded in 1971 as a small civil rights law firm. The Southern Poverty Law Center is dedicated to fighting hate and bigotry and to seeking justice for the most vulnerable members of society. Using litigation, education, and other forms of advocacy, the Center works toward the day when the ideals of equal justice and equal opportunity will be a reality. SPLC currently operates juvenile justice and education reform projects in Alabama, Florida, Louisiana and Mississippi – four of the states where children are most at risk of ending up in the juvenile justice system or dropping out of school. They are also working with advocates in other Southern states and across the country.

Mental Health

Mental Health America (MHA)

MHA, the leading advocacy organization addressing the full spectrum of mental and substance use conditions and their effects nationwide, works to inform, advocate and enable access to quality behavioral health services for all Americans. With nearly a century of experience, MHA has an established record of effective national and grassroots actions that promote mental health, and address mental and substance use issues with compassionate and concrete solutions. MHA's actions inform, support and enable mental wellness, and emphasize recovery from mental illness.

MHA's state affiliates bring together mental health consumers, parents, advocates, and service providers for collaboration and action. They provide public education, information and referral, support groups, rehabilitation services, socialization, and housing services to those confronting mental health problems and their loved ones.

Policy and Advocacy

Campaign for Fair Sentencing of Youth (CFSY)

The Campaign for the Fair Sentencing of Youth is the national campaign working to end the practice of sentencing children to life in prison without the possibility of parole. CFSY coordinates, develops and supports efforts to implement fair and age-appropriate sentences for youth, with a focus on abolishing life without parole sentences for youth. They provide technical assistance on strategic communications, litigation and advocacy to attorneys, advocates, organizers and others working on JLWOP at the state and federal level.

Campaign for Youth Justice (CFYJ)

The Campaign for Youth Justice (CFYJ) is dedicated to ending the practice of trying, sentencing, and incarcerating youth under 18 in the adult criminal justice system. CFYJ advises, provides support and works in partnership with state advocates pursuing youth justice reform. We serve as a clearinghouse of information on youth prosecuted as adults and make our tools and resources available to those interested in learning more and taking action on the issue of youth tried as adults. To learn more about CFYJ and to get connected with advocates in your state, please visit: www.campaignforyouthjustice.org

W. Haywood Burns Institute Community Justice Network for Youth

The W. Haywood Burns Institute is a San Francisco-based national nonprofit. It is a leading organization in the field of juvenile justice and ethnic and racial disparities reduction, which helps to protect and improve the lives of youth of color and poor youth by promoting and ensuring fairness and equity in youth-serving systems across the country.

The Community Justice Network for Youth (CJNY) is a program of the W. Haywood Burns Institute. This program is comprised of community-based programs, grassroots organizations, service-providing agencies, residential facilities and advocacy groups that focus their work on youth of color. The CJNY's primary function is to be a support network for organizers and practitioners who are on the ground working with youth who are at risk or already involved in juvenile justice systems.

Prisoner Rights

Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants (CURE)

Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants (CURE) is a grassroots organization that was founded in Texas in 1972. It became a national organization in 1985. They believe that prisons should be used only for those who absolutely must be incarcerated and that those who are incarcerated should have all of the resources they need to turn their lives around. They also believe that human rights documents provide a sound basis for ensuring that criminal justice systems meet these goals. CURE is a membership organization and work to provide members with the information and tools necessary to help them understand the criminal justice system and to advocate for changes.

CURE's state chapters serve as the organization's local affiliates in helping those who are incarcerated receive the resources they need to better themselves and allow for members across the country to get involved.

Advancement Project

Advancement Project is a civil rights law, policy, and communications “action tank” that advances universal opportunity and a just democracy for those left behind in America. They believe that sustainable progress can be made when multiple tools—law, policy analysis, strategic communications, technology, and research— are coordinated with grassroots movements. Advancement Project was founded by veteran civil rights lawyers who were looking for new ways to dismantle structural barriers to inclusion, secure racial equity, and expand opportunity for all.

Dignity in Schools Campaign (DSC)

The Dignity in Schools Campaign (DSC) challenges the systemic problem of push-out in our nation's schools and advocates for the human right of every young person to a quality education and to be treated with dignity. The DSC unites parents, youth, advocates and educators to support alternatives to a culture of zero-tolerance, punishment and removal in our schools.
